

Graz is a Biobanking Hotspot

ORF Styria reports on the Europe-wide pioneering role of Biobank Graz, BBMRI.at and BBMRIERIC - all 3 in the ZWT at the Medical University of Graz.

In a radio report on the 28th of July, Kurt Zatloukal, director of BBMRI.at, talked on this topic.

Through the systematic analysis of blood and tissue samples stored in biobanks, researchers gain important insights into diseases. This knowledge is the basis for almost all diagnostics and modern drugs. To this extent, biobanks have a very central role in medical research.

Read German article \(Steiermark ORF.at\) >>