

How European Biological and Medical Sciences Research Infrastructures Boost Innovation by Open Access

The BBMRI.at partner Medical University of Graz and EATRIS co-organised a meeting in Brussels as part of the H2020-funded CORBEL project (Coordinated Research infrastructures Building Enduring Life-science Services).

The main topics accelerating innovation and open innovation with particular emphasis on pre-competitive research collaboration was explored by speakers and participants from Science Research Infrastructures, Industry, the European Commission and European Research organizations. A report about the outcome of the conference and earlier discussions and workshops will be provided by CORBEL soon.
